S4 9km, 158m

S5 10.8km, 139m

Stan Sayres Memorial Park to Rainier Beach Community Center & Playfield

Walking distance: 10.8 km (6.8 miles)

Elevation gain: 139 m (445 ft)

Section 5 of the Seattle Olmsted 50 trail begins at Stan Sayres Memorial Park, served by Bus #7 (walk from Rainier Avenue S).

You can split Section 5 into two shorter walks. Section 5 North runs from Stan Sayres Memorial Park⁴ to Seward Park³ 5.5 km, (3.4 mi) and Section 5 South finishes at the Rainier Beach Community Center beside South Shore PreK-8 School (5.4 km, 3.3 mi).

For public transit options, public bathrooms and treats see directions, last page.

Section 5 North

Walking distance: 5.5 km (3.4 miles)
Elevation gain: 49 m (163 ft)

Note: The route is stroller friendly along the standard route as sandy beaches transits are not required.

- Take the shore path south between Lake Washington Boulevard S² and Lake Washington, a walker's delight.
- At the S Adams Street intersection you may find a paddle livery (and Honey Buckets) on the shore side.
- Ohler's Island now hosts gated Lakewood Marina & Moorage and a grand lily pad bloom.
- At Ferdinand Street Boat Launch (hand carry, seasonal) the frequent sightings of stand up and kayak fleets makes sense.

We are on the traditional land of the Coast Salish peoples who live here and steward these lands and waters as they have for time immemorial.

- Proceed south to curl left (east) to checkout the Torii Gate, then into Seward Park³ (toilets).
- The interior loop is shorter than the Shore Loop Road . Our shorter route is about 2.3 km, (1.4 mi) along Seward Park Rd.
- Head north, clockwise, uphill on the paved path from the toilet blocks.
- Pass by Park Shelter 3 and cross the road from one information kiosk to the other. Take the Bald Eagle Trail right to the Sqabaqsed (Upper) Trailhead.
- Move onto paved Seward Park Rd, then bear left down the restricted Seward Park Rd to Seward Park Trail on the Lake.
- Right on the footpath back to the Birds Connect Seattle (Audubon) Center.
- FYI, Bus #50 is up S Juneau Street.

You have completed Section 5 North.

Section 5 South

Walking distance: 5.4 km (3.3 miles)
Elevation gain: 85 m (282 ft)

Note: The final Section elevation gain is twice 5 North but generally easy grades. Section 5 South is also stroller friendly.

- After exploring the Japanese stone lanterns inside the traffic circle, exit Seward Park³ west up S Juneau St to turn left (south) on Seward Park Avenue S.

Winter Home. Duwamish people had a permanent winter camp just south of Bailey Peninsula (Seward Park) with several longhouses.

- Bear left onto Lakeshore Drive S to S Eddy Street and up (right) two blocks to 57th Ave S.
- Left (south) on 57th Avenue S to Martha Washington Park. The waterfront was, perhaps, enjoyed by the young Wards-of-the-Court women housed at Seattle School District's Girls Parental School (later Martha Washington School), which closed in 1965 and was demolished in 1989.

Sephardic Community

The 3rd largest U.S. community of Sephardic Judaism is in this area. And an eruv (continuous, high wire) circles the enclave to give it "our home" status for observant Jews on the Sabbath. Ladino, a Spanish dialect, remains a second language for many.

Ancestors came from Portugal and Spain, cast out during the 1490s Spanish Inquisition. Choices were, "Convert or die." World War II was also devastating to the Sephardim around the Mediterranean. These Turks and Rhodes citizens came to Seattle in the early 20th century. Be'er Shiva is a sister city in Israel.

- Exit right up pavement to the sandstone pavers along S Holly Street back to Seward Park Avenue S.
- Turn left staying on Seward Park Avenue S. After several blocks you pass Kline-Galland Home (Jewish retirement center) and the gated, 5-acre estate of philanthropists, the late James D & Sherry Raisbeck 7536 Seward Park Ave

S). Can you see the statues through the fence?

- Turn left (east) on S Grattan Street leading into Pritchard Island Beach⁴. No public bathrooms at the bathhouse.

Brighton Beach Parkway⁵ was to go north to Seward Park and connect west to Dunlap Canyon Parkway towards Beacon Hill, West Seattle and South Park, two of several parkways that were never built.

- With bathhouse at your back walk slowly down the path to the beach. Did you find the inlay showing the former lake shoreline?
- Turn right (south) on the graveled footpath leaving from the parking area. This forested former wetland, and Seattle City Light nursery was restored starting in 2014. The amphitheater announces The Wetland At Pritchard Beach Park's role as ecological classroom for local schools.
- You just traversed the former Dunlap Slough, Loon Place to the Native People. Pritchard Island was to the east. When Lake Washington was lowered 9 feet, the island was no more.

Rainier Beach Urban Farm & Wetlands

Seattle Parks and Recreation re-imagined the former Atlantic Street Nursery to create a farm-to-table site with classroom, commercial kitchen, office space and improved access from Be'er Shiva Park.

There's picnic space in this new park managed by Seattle Tilth and the Friends of RBUFV.

Target: more than 20,000 lbs of fresh fruits and vegetables annually – primarily for Rainier Valley residents. This is Seattle's largest urban farm.

- At S Cloverdale Street, look left across the street to see if the gate is open to the Rainier Beach Urban Farm and Wetlands. [If not open, head right (west) down Cloverdale Street to enter Be'er Sheva Park farther west.]
- If open, take some time and walk south past the Tilth Alliance Farm Stand (on your left) through the gardens. You may wish to explore in the wetlands, but the main route turns right to exit

- A splendid gateway in the SW corner of the farm garden reveals the way into 25.5-acre Be'er Sheva Park².

Be'er Shiva Park location was a trolley line terminus, part of the Atlantic City Addition for new homes. Seattle Parks started a $2.5 million upgrade of the park and adjoining boat ramp in 2023.

- Construction currently limits Be'er Sheva exploring so cross Seward Park Avenue S heading west along S Henderson St. Rainier Beach High School and sports field are revered by the local community. A $300 million replacement is under construction, due to greet the freshman class of 2029 in fall 2025.
- Worth a visit on the south side of S Henderson is Mapes Walkway. Mapes creek drains into Lake Washington but is undergrounded here. Remarkable bas relief sculptures show the seasons and Galactic Travel street art is by Ikeo
- The S Henderson Street / Rainier Avenue S vicinity has been a problem area over the past few years. But the HS and South Shore PreK-8 School remain beacons of promise and hope. And the Rainier Beach Community Center (pool, basketball, services) hosts the local and newer Ethiopian and Somali communities and many others.
- Cross Rainier Ave S and turn right up the sidewalk to the Community Center.

Rainier Beach Playfield⁴, is a favorite recess and recreation venue.

Return to Stan Sayres⁴ Park

Standard route starts at Rainier Ave S & S Henderson St. Take Bus #7 to just past Columbia City at S Alaska St. A mostly downhill walk through Genesee Park⁴ takes you to Stan Sayres -- about 1.6 km (1 mile).

Columbia City, just north up Rainier Avenue S, is a proper urban village. Served by light rail and bus, it boasts cafes, pubs, bakeries, jazz clubs, cinema ... A favorite is Columbia City Bakery. Third Place Books nearer Seward Park offers bagels, beer and literary browsing.

Congratulations, you just completed Section 5 of the Seattle Olmsted 50!

Note: The Friends of Seattle's Olmsted Parks map display gives five park categories. Our superscripts show: 1)Pre-1903, 2)1903-09, 3)1909-13, 4)Post 1913, and 5)Unrealized
