The definitive biography of one of America’s most influential climbers, from a hardscrabble youth to the heights of Yosemite and beyond

- Robbins’s passing in 2017 was covered from the BBC News to NPR to the New York Times, which deemed him the “conscience of rock climbers”
- Includes never-before-published information drawn from Robbins’s family archives and personal papers
- International interest in the Golden Age of Yosemite only continues to grow

Acclaimed writer David Smart illuminates the fascinating life of Royal Robbins—in all its soulful ambition, rivalry, and romance. Royal Robbins chronicles his early years growing up as a latchkey kid in Southern California, the push and pull between being an aspiring banker or one of the original Camp 4 dirtbags, and his later decades as a father, husband, kayaker, and the trailblazing founder of the outdoor apparel company that bears his name. This intimate, colorful tour of climbing history covering Yosemite, the Tetons, the Gunks, the Alps, the United Kingdom, and more from the 1960s onward features star characters such as Liz Robbins—Robbins’s wife and a pioneering adventurer in her own right—Yvon Chouinard, John Harlin, Steve Roper, Warren Harding, Tom Frost, and Doug Tompkins.

An important addition to our knowledge of the Golden Age of rock climbing in Yosemite and the development of the clean climbing ethos, Royal Robbins sheds new light on an elemental figure of outdoor culture.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

A coming-of-age memoir that grapples with growing awareness of climate change and friends lost to the mountains

- Honestly portrays the highs and lows of a life dedicated to the outdoors
- Shares the author’s development as an outspoken conservation advocate
- Story is rooted in the peaks of the Pacific Northwest, Alaska, and Pakistan

How do we reconcile our love of outdoor adventure with the inevitability of loss in high-risk sports? Still in his thirties, Graham Zimmerman has made first ascents from Alaska to Pakistan, and in 2020 he received the Piolet d’Or for his climb on Pakistan’s Link Sar with Steve Swenson. A sponsored athlete who is sought out as a climbing partner, Zimmerman knows that he must find a balance between his ambitions as an alpinist and his social responsibilities—as a husband, climate advocate, and community leader.

His generation has faced devastating grief in the mountains, including the deaths of Kyle Dempster, Hayden Kennedy, and Inge Perkins, and his cohort has witnessed firsthand the effects of climate change in the form of disappearing glaciers and increasingly erratic weather. Zimmerman writes of the exhilaration he feels while climbing but also the painful realization that summiting at all costs is an outdated model. As A Fine Line traces Graham’s journey, mountain lovers everywhere will see themselves in this coming-of-age story of adventure and personal reckoning.

Adventures of Black Women, Nonbinary, and Gender Nonconforming People in Nature

EDITED BY AMBER WENDLER AND SHAZ ZAMORE | FOREWORD BY CAROLYN FINNEY

Stories and outdoor inspiration from contemporary Black women and nonbinary writers in nature and science

- Illustrates the broad experiences of nature enthusiasts by highlighting diverse perspectives and intersectionality
- Contributors are all Black women and nonbinary outdoor writers working in fields such as botany, marine biology, ornithology, mammalogy, environmental policy, land management, and more

Encompassing four major themes—identity, inspiration, ancestry, and stewardship—Been Outside traces common experiences across these writers’ paths through nature and into science. This collection explores what sparked their interests in the natural world, how fieldwork and adventure have shaped them as individuals, what it means to be a Black woman or nonbinary scientist studying the natural world, and what the future may look like for our shared outdoor community.

Camille Mosely contemplates the rich fishing history of Black Americans and how that relates to their career in freshwater ecology. In the Pacific Northwest, many of us delight in Olympic National Park, a unique and magical UNESCO natural World Heritage Site, located right in our own backyard. Yet the famed park is just the center of a much larger ecosystem, a wild circle of rivers that encompasses ancient old-growth forests, pristine coastal expanses, and jagged alpine peaks, all possessed of a rich biodiversity. For tens of thousands of years, humans have thrived and strived alongside this natural world.

In Salmon, Cedar, Rock & Rain, Tim McNulty explores the Olympic Peninsula’s complex—and ongoing—story of development, conservation, restoration, and cultural heritage, while writers from the Lower Elwha Klallam, Jamestown S’Klallam, Port Gamble S’Klallam, Makah Tribe, and Quinault Indian Nation share some of their own history, stories, and perspectives.

Perhaps no other region in the Northwest offers a history of such depth, nor a future ripe with so much potential. Salmon, Cedar, Rock & Rain is a rich and vivid exploration of both Olympic National Park and its surrounding peninsula.

RETURN OF THE BISON
A Story of Survival, Restoration, and a Wilder World
ROGER L. DI SILVESTRO

A compelling blend of history and accessible modern science illustrating how the rebound of the West’s most iconic animal can serve as a model for species conservation

• Offers a hopeful view of threatened species, grounded in history and science
• Addresses current conservation trends: wildlife corridors, prairie restoration, cultural restoration for the American Indian community

Return of the Bison is the story of how this symbol of the American West was once almost lost to history and of the continuing journey to bring bison back from the brink. Author and naturalist Roger Di Silvestro explores the complex history of the bison’s decimation and how a rising awareness of their possible extinction formed the roots of many modern wildlife conservation approaches. Weaving in natural history and fascinating historical context featuring personalities such as Teddy Roosevelt, George Bird Grinnell, and William T. Hornaday, Di Silvestro traces the decades it took to begin to save the bison, often with little hope and plagued by discouraging setbacks. Di Silvestro explores the key role in the story of America’s Indigenous people, whose fate was intertwined with the bison’s and whose conservation work is important not only for the animal’s recovery but also for their own cultural renewal.

Di Silvestro also examines the plight of European bison and the latest challenges facing the species in the US: Are the bison doomed to be treated like cattle, fenced and contained? Or will they be listed as an endangered species, requiring us to treat them like the wild animals they are?

APPALACHIAN TRAIL DATA BOOK 2024

DANIEL D. CHAZIN

Indispensable handbook of milesages between features and facilities on the A.T.

- Essential for basic planning of any A.T. hike
- Culled from all 11 A.T. guidebooks
- Reflects all major changes from the previous 12 months

Sometimes termed “the bible of A.T. hiking” because of its use in essential hike planning, each year’s Data Book consolidates the basic information from the 11 official ATC guidebooks into a lightweight table of distances between major A.T. shelters, road-crossings, and features. Divided to align with the guidebook volumes, the Data Book is updated each December to address trail relocations, new or removed shelters, and other changes. In addition to including codes for lodging, food, water, and other essentials, the Data Book is keyed to both the individual guidebook sections and the separate maps.

DANIEL D. CHAZIN, an attorney and longtime volunteer/editor with the New York–New Jersey Trail Conference, has been the editor of the annual Appalachian Trail Data Book since 1983. He also is the editor of the Appalachian Trail Guide to New York–New Jersey and chair of the publications committee of the NY-NJ Trail Conference.

APPALACHIAN LONG DISTANCE HIKERS ASSN.

A thoroughly researched guide by long-distance hikers for long-distance hikers

- Elevation profiles show the day ahead
- Landmark-by-landmark tables provide at-a-glance information
- Town maps indicate food and lodging

The Appalachian Trail Conservancy and the Appalachian Long Distance Hikers Association collaborate each year on a guide designed for potential thru-hikers who want the basic information for a five- to six-month trek in the woods, at a reasonable price, but who also want the adventure of discovering the extras for themselves. A favorite for 28 years of section-hikers and dreamers alike, it is still the only such guide written by volunteers, and all the proceeds are returned to the A.T. by these two nonprofits. Fact-checking research is done by more than two dozen thru-hiker volunteers in 14 states, backed by the first-hand information of the trail’s volunteer and staff maintainers and managers. Includes gear manufacturers’ toll-free numbers, post office hours, and much more.

APPALACHIAN LONG DISTANCE HIKERS ASSOCIATION

It was formed in 1981 by previous thru-hikers but soon became a “users group” for backpackers and hikers of all the US scenic trails and major hiking paths abroad. Day hikes to enjoy the beauty of fall’s changing leaves

- Hikes to 45 of Colorado’s best places to see fall colors
- How to time your hike with peak season
- Where to see aspen groves, cottonwoods, ash, box elder, willows, and alpine tundra

For eight weeks every fall, the trees of Colorado put on a breathtaking display of color. The gold, orange, and red of aspen trees contrast with white, snow-covered mountains and bluebird skies, and temperatures cool off, making fall a magical time to get outdoors. This guidebook offers hikers the best 45 trails in Colorado for noteworthy beauty—without summer’s crowds or traffic—along with a sense of adventure.

Many of these hikes will have you saying “Wow!” around every corner as you spy a bright-yellow aspen grove. Others may surprise you with golden cottonwood trees, orange ash or box elder, or red fields of tundra. As a bonus, all of these are great hikes in the spring and summer too. Grab this guide and head to the hills!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

MATT ENQUIST lives in the San Luis Valley in majestic southern Colorado. In addition to exploring the trails of Colorado, he has spent extensive time rambling in Alaska, Washington, California, Montana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Wyoming, and Utah.

Matt grew up in the northern suburbs of Chicago before attending North Park University in Chicago to study creative writing. A four-thousand-mile bicycle trip in 2008 reinvigorated a love for sleeping in the dirt. After school, he spent six years working in the outdoor industry before working in nonprofit land conservation and healthcare organizations.

The Art of Shralpinism

“Part memoir, part skills guide, part almost motivational, self-help guide, The Art of Shralpinism provides a window into Jones’ evolution as an individual and an athlete. It gives readers the opportunity to learn from his lessons, lifestyle and wisdom.”

—Backcountry Magazine

Bears Don’t Care About Your Problems

“...Leonard’s stories are much more than just a laugh or step-by-step guide on lightening the weight in your backpack. Bears Don’t Care About Your Problems draws insights on human nature, character, and perspective.”

—Climbing Magazine

Arctic Solitaire

“In freely sharing what he sees and experiences, Souders immerses his audience in a captivating adventure, offering an intimate view of both the perils of lone exploration and the stunning beauty of the wild. The result is a rare, enchanting treat for any reader.”

—Foreword Reviews
Imaginary Peaks

“A fascinating look at the human desire to discover new places, and how that desire fuels imagination and lore—a must read for anyone who has ever been called to explore.”

—Washington Trails magazine

How to Suffer Outside

“Funny and philosophical . . . teaches adventurers young and old how to hit the trail without breaking the bank and includes plenty of the helpful advice (plus checklists and resources) every novice needs.”

—Sierra

My Old Man and the Mountain

“My Old Man and the Mountain is Leif Whittaker’s engaging and humorous story of what it was like to “grow up Whittaker”—the youngest son of Jim Whittaker, the first American to summit Mt. Everest, and Dianne Roberts, in an extended family of accomplished climbers.”

Following is an index of titles sorted by region. We've indexed guidebooks here to make it easy to find the ones that are near you. Also included are some narrative adventures, because it's always fun to read stories that took place near where you live or in a faraway place you're interested in. A little more than half our catalog can be organized regionally. But don't forget about all those sports instructionals, general lifestyle topics, and wild, sweet, and romantic tales that aren't in this index. You need to browse through the pages here to find those treasures or, if you know the title, you can find them in the Title Index.
