EVERETT BRANCH HISTORICAL TRIVIA

This bit of trivia is taken from secretary Lee Hirman's minutes of the annual meeting, September 1947.

The Board of Trustees, recognizing the need for accommodations for skiers, voted to build two ski cabins, one at Mt. Baker and one at Stevens Pass. Committees were appointed, sites obtained, and building plans were drawn and accepted. Money was appropriated, $2600 for each cabin. Work had already been started at Stevens Pass, but the building of the cabin would not start until spring, at which time work would also be started at the Baker Ski Cabin site. A new site had also been obtained at Snoqualmie Pass where a larger and better lodge would be built to replace the lodge that burned down several years before. Mr. C.O. Davis presented the Club Photo Album for inspection and urged each member to bring photos to the meetings to be included in the album for the branch archives.

LETTERS NEEDED FOR POWER COUNCIL'S PROTECTED AREAS PROGRAM

Don't let your writing pens cool off for the summer yet. The Conservation Committee requests that Everett Branch members prepare letters of support for the Northwest Power Planning Council's proposed Protected Areas Program.

In April, the Power Planning Council formally proposed "protected area" status for 40,000 miles of streams in Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana, effectively banning new hydroelectric dam development. The Council has proposed this measure as the best way to preserve the remaining critical aquatic and riparian habitat for fish and wildlife in the region. As proposed, the program would prohibit dams on streams containing the following:

habitat currently used by or potentially available to ocean-going species such as salmon or steelhead within the Columbia River Basin;

habitat currently used by ocean-going fish in those parts of the Northwest outside the Columbia Basin;

habitat used by wild resident fish, if recommended by state fish and wildlife agencies.

However, this program is currently only a proposal.

Hydroelectric developers are actively opposing the Protected Areas proposal. There are several plans to raise existing big dams and reservoirs. There are also hundreds of small-scale hydro project applications being reviewed for licensing by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). (Keep in mind that many such applications have been made for the Snohomish River Basin!)

Such projects interfere with stream fish migrations and subsequently deplete populations of salmon, steelhead and resident fish like trout. The depletion is exacerbated when spawning beds are clogged from roadbuilding and construction activities.

Your letter of support for the Power Planning Council's Protected Areas Program is needed now. In addition, we ask that you make recommendations in your letters to strengthen the proposal as it is now being presented:

Stronger protection for wildlife - Ask the Council to provide the same protection to wildlife as to ocean-going fish in critical habitat.

More habitat - Ask the Council to consult with resource agencies to identify additional areas which deserve protection.

Protection for recreational, scenic and other values - Ask that these environmental values be included as part of the criteria for determining protected areas.

A uniform expedited review process for additions and deletions to the program - The current proposal contains an expedited review process through which a stream can be deleted from the program within 30 days if a factual error in the Council's database can be demonstrated. However, this process does not apply to possible additions. Ask the Council to use the same expedited review process for additions to as well as deletions from the Protected Areas Program.

Any other comments you can make to support and strengthen this program are needed. Letters should be addressed to:

Northwest Power Planning Council
851 SW Sixth Ave., Suite #1100
Portland, OR 97204

The deadline for written comment is July 8, 1988.

If you need more information concerning the Protected Areas Program, please call me before July 1. Thanks for writing.

Scott Dorough
